Memphis City Council Meetings Broadcast with Live Video on Internet

Citizens of Memphis will now be able to view Memphis City Council meetings live via the internet at the website: www.memphiscitycouncil.com. Since 2007, audio broadcasts and archives of City Council meetings have been available on the internet and starting on Tuesday, May 11, 2010 at 3:30 p.m. video broadcasts will be available as well.

Council Chairman Harold Collins stressed the impact of the camera on open government, "I am pleased that starting Tuesday, City Council meetings will have the video component. Having video broadcasts of our Council meetings improves the public's access to City government and is part of a larger effort to ensure that the Council proceedings are open and transparent. Citizens of Memphis will now be able to keep an eye on City Council meetings wherever they may be."

City Council meetings are also broadcast live on the radio at WQOX FM 88.5 at 3:30 p.m. on the second and fourth Tuesdays of the month.
